MEN IN NO CONDITION TO GET BACK TO WORK

Virginia Players Physically Unable, After Saturday's Hard Fight to Resume Practice Yesterday—Squad of Coaches on Hand.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Charlottesville, Va., November 7.—Virginia's squad of coaches, augmented by "Empty" Cooke, a former star tackle, captain and coach, was on hand this afternoon to begin the work of preparing the team for the big game on the schedule, but the players, weary and blue from the battle with the Indians, were physically unable to participate in signal practice, much less engage in a scrimmage.

All of the players who were in Saturday's contest stroled out to Lambeth field one by one, including Joe Wood, who has a sprained ankle. The plucky center appears to be in a bad way, and though he limps badly, still entertains some hope of getting in the Georgetown game. It looks to-day, however, as if Holladay, the truck captain, will have to fill the pivot position against the Blue and Gray. Holladay is not in any too good condition, for he was among the first taken out of the Indian game.

Virginia's back fieldmen appear to have suffered more than the forwards in Saturday's contest. It developed upon them to check the heavy redskin backs, and the battering they got will long be remembered. Todd, Driver, Jones and Honaker are bruised and sore, and it looks impossible for them to get in any sort of condition for a profitable scrimmage this week.

In the absence of the varsity, enough material was secured for a scrimmage between the second and third teams and it was to these men that the coaches directed their attention. The mix-up lasted until dark, and a very creditable showing was made by Powell, Beardsell and Wester.

Captain Geyer was warmly greeted when he appeared on the field in football boots. He did all he could to dispel the gloom which pervaded the entire camp, and tried to romp around like a schoolboy. He has lost an even dozen pounds during his sickness. He went through signal practice with the second team, and was among the last to leave the field. In case he does not have a setback he will be found in his old position at right tackle Saturday, while Varner will be transferred to the other tackle and not to end, as rumored.

Cecil, last year's tackle, was in uniform, but did not even engage in signal practice. The impression has prevailed in College all along, however, that if he were badly needed on the team that parental objection would be withdrawn.

Umpire Rieger, of the National League, appeared on the field in a football suit.

ELEVEN TO MEET TWO OLD RIVALS

Washington and Lee Practicing for Carolina and Alabama Games.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Lexington, Va., November 7.—The canceling of the game with A. and M. has in no way interfered with the spirit and progress of the Washington and Lee squad. At present the squad still numbers about thirty-five men, who are all enthusiastic and look for the deciding contest with North Carolina and Alabama with a great deal of confidence.

Auerbach, an old Pennsylvania State man has appeared on the gridiron at Lexington and his presence has in some degree strengthened the team. He is a heavy man, weighing about 160 pounds, and is fast. Anybody familiar with football in the North Atlantic division who has seen him play, and who has seen him play in the North Atlantic division, will be sure to recognize him. He has been playing in the North Atlantic division for several years, and is a very good player. He has been playing in the North Atlantic division for several years, and is a very good player. TOMAHAWK CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEET

Prospects Are Bright for Unusually Successful Hunting Season.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Orange, Va., November 7.—The hunting season has started off in full force with the Tomahawk Hunt Club, and lovers of sport can get all the riding they wish from now on through the winter. The prospects for the season are unusually bright. There is a larger membership than ever before, and the club has a pack of fifteen American fox hounds.

On Saturday the first meet was held at "Kenwood," the home of Wallace Sanford, M. F. H., the course being four miles, leading through "Kenwood" and across the estates owned by Mrs. John Scott and W. V. Sanford. Owing to the softness of some of the horses, the course was laid short. After the hunt breakfast was tendered the club by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Sanford.

Those riding were Wallace Sanford, M. F. H., on Tomahawk; August Wambersie, whip, on Mogul; James N. Andrews, whip, on Blue Run; W. W. Osborne, on Speckled Foot; Dr. J. S. Andrews, on Orient; K. C. Johnson, on Rex; Dr. F. G. Scott, on Chinagook; Beach Lawrence, on Bonnie Bell; Jack Ward, on Night Cap; H. G. Shackelford, on Cricket; Edwin Halsey, on Flint.

DOCTORS PREPARE FOR VIVISECTION

The football team of the Medical College of Virginia put in a hard afternoon's practice yesterday at Byrd park under the direction of Coach Calfee. In preparation for the game tomorrow afternoon with the University College of Medicine, which will be called promptly at 4 o'clock.

As a large proportion of the local medical profession received diplomas from one or the other of these schools, and as nearly every physician in town will be at the game, Broad Street Park might not be a bad place to go tomorrow afternoon if you have anything to be depicted from a medical standpoint for a little while, and patients may suffer—there is more at stake.

It will be a hard fought game. Both teams want to win, and as this is a physical impossibility, each will try to keep the other from claiming the distinction. Further, it will be the annual contest of the two schools, and the one big game on the calendar. So watch the fur fly.

SHAFTS FROM SPORTLAND

By G. MALBERT.

"What's the difference between politics and prize-fighting?" asks a correspondent. Guess I'll have to give it up. Anyway, I'll bite. What is the difference?

With a new bowling league being formed and with prospects bright for a real pool tournament, to say nothing of football, there should be some happenings of sporting interest during the winter.

Just to add a little sauce to the menu I might not be amiss to add that Owner W. Bradley was once across with a few lines of gossip ever and anon relative to what the Richmond team is going to do next season. An anonymous statement was always appropriate, even if it isn't quite satisfying. When you say what you are going to do there is little room for argument. Bradley was not quite so positively sure that you are not going to do it.

Jack Lawler says that he is going to get a job with Troy, up in the Tri-State. Hope so. Jack isn't a bad sort, but he sure was a frost down in this part of the country. He was the first choice for the job, and there are those who say that Richmond got the worst of it.

There was some truth in the report that Dobson was to manage Richmond. On a high authority as Bradley himself, it can be said that he was the first choice for the job, and there are those who say that Richmond got the worst of it.

President Williams is going to get himself in bad about Richmond if he doesn't keep quiet about his own idea of his Richmond wants more baseball, and wants a higher grade. This thing of cutting the season is all tomfoolery.

Because an aviation meet was postponed when the wind blew, a was, says Beau Broadway, remarked that airships would never do for war because a battleship could turn on her electric fans and cause a cessation of hostilities.

Ralph Johnstone has been denied his record of 974 feet made at Blount Park during the recent aviation meet. He still holds the American record, however. Now comes the information that Clarence Courtney, a wine merchant, of Portland, Ore., went up 1,235 feet in a home-made biplane. His record will hardly stand, as it was not recorded officially.

George Wingfield, Jr., a jockey, who is well known on the Eastern and Western tracks, where he has ridden some famous horses, is in great demand. Thomas Hatfield and Thomas P. Hayes will appear before the Kentucky State Racing Commission and ask that tribunal to decide which is entitled to the boy's services. Both claim him.

"Yale Still Hopes to Beat Tigers"—Headline in Morning Telegraph. Hops springs forth from the post, and it would be rather malapropos to joke with the post. But Yale, bulldog and all, will have a big job on her hands. Tom Shevlin is due to arrive at New Haven to-day and he will take a hand in the coaching department.

Mel Sheppard will now leave the cinder path for the season. And he will leave satisfied. He has beaten Gilling, the man who took his measure in three different championship events. It happened on Olympia Field, New York, on Sunday. Sheppard hasn't worked up to his usual form, and he felt his defeat keenly.

The race meet still continues in Norfolk, despite the action of some overzealous officials who sought to put an end to it last Friday. The fields are enlarging and showing more class each day. Looks as if the Jamestown track is destined to become one of the best in the country. There are many people in Virginia who will gladly welcome racing.

Good guessing contest going on as to whether Carolina really exerted herself to win from V. P. L. Saturday. I have had some experience with college football and have never known of a case where any team failed to put forth its very best in an attempt to win. Carolina simply was lacking. Notice how Legge, when he carried the ball over, crouched up until he was behind the goal posts, and then put the ball down? Not a soul stopped him, yet it is practically certain that had the ball gone down where the goal line was crossed it would have been impossible to score at least one more point.

Some writers are trying to figure out from the game between the University of Virginia and the Indians that Carolina has a chance to win. This is a line of reasoning I can't quite grasp. Carolina has a fast and a heavy team. Virginia has a fast, but light team. There was no shame in the defeat, neither was a comparison made between Blacksburg and Virginia were to meet, then some real figuring might be done.

COUNTLESS WINS BY HALF LENGTH

Defeats Star Bottle and All Red in a Driving Finish.

Latonia, Ky., November 7.—Countless, running in form, won the fourth race at Latonia to-day by defeating Star Bottle and All Red in a driving finish. Countless was off in front, and Jockey McGee sent the colt along at a merry clip. The final eighth pole, however, Star Bottle came with a rush, and the two fought it out the remainder of the way. Countless getting the decision by a half length.

CUE HANDLERS PLAN TOURNEY

Six Entrants Evenly Matched May Battle for Local Amateur Championship

What do you think of a six-team pool tournament free from professionalism and with the entrants picked from the very best amateur pool players in Richmond? Well, plans are being laid for just such a tournament. Of course, it would be possible to make the field larger, but the fact of the matter is that a real pool tournament has never been held locally, and the movement is largely pioneer work. There have been several attempts, but they have been largely abortive. Somehow or other there has always been one man who so far outclassed every other player that interest was lost before the matches really began.

In the present instance it is the intention to make the match as nearly even as possible. It is thought that six players can be secured who play about an equal game. In the event that this is found impossible then the tournament will be made a handicap affair. The entrance fee will be small and the prize will be of such a nature as to make it worth while to enter.

It has not been definitely decided on what tables the matches will be held. In fact, nothing has been definitely decided. But the question of holding such a tournament has been discussed by those most interested, and a conclusion has been reached with a few days. Pool has always been popular locally, but unfortunately certain things have occurred which in some quarters has put the game in bad repute. For this reason great care will be exercised in selecting the entrants. The quality is not only desirable that the quality of the game played be improved, but also that the quality of the men playing the game be raised to the highest possible standard. The game itself is harmless, but like all other things, it can be, and has been, abused.

Should the tournament be held it will prove of vast interest to many who like the game.

Eagles Defeat Olympics, The Eagles and the Olympics, two of the premier colored football teams of Richmond, battled yesterday afternoon at Broad Street Park. The game was a tie up the last quarter, when the Eagles scored the final touchdown and won the game, the score standing 14 to 6. It was a good game, and the crowd enjoyed every minute of play.

Blue's Battalion Drill, The next of the annual dress battalion marches of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues will be held at the armory on Thursday, November 17. It will be followed by dancing. First call will be at 8:30, assembly at 9:00 and adjutant's call at 9:30.

FIELD MOUSE WINS IN DRIVING FINISH

Takes Feature Race at Jamestown by a Nose from Compton, a 20-to-1 Shot—Royal Onyx, at 5-to-1, is Easy Victor in First Race.

Norfolk, Va., November 7.—Field Mouse's victory in the third race, mile event, was the best feature at the Jamestown Jockey Club's track to-day. Compton, a twenty-to-one shot, was up with Field Mouse at the finish, and was just a nose from winning first money. At the eighth pole, Field Mouse was apparently beaten, but Duane's strong finish made her first at the wire. Royal Onyx, a 5-to-1, in the first event, won handsily against Takahira, an even money favorite that was heavily played.

With fine "Indian summer" weather the crowd was larger to-day than probably any day yet of the present meet. The track was in good condition, and the books on to-day, the largest number in the history of the Jamestown track, and the betting was lively indeed, the exciting scenes about the bookmakers being such as were never before witnessed in this part of the country. Summary:

CATARRH

A SYSTEMIC BLOOD DISEASE

Catarrh is not merely an affection of the mucous membranes; it is a deep-seated blood disease in which the entire circulation and greater part of the system are involved. It is more commonly manifested in the head, nose and throat, because of the sensitive nature of these membranes, and also because they are more easily reached by irritating influences from the outside. The symptoms of Catarrh, such as a tight feeling in the head, nose stopped up, throat clogged and dry, hacking cough, etc., show that the tiny blood vessels of the mucous membranes are badly congested and inflamed from the impurities in the circulation. To cure Catarrh permanently the blood must be purified and the system cleansed of all unhealthy matter. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head, goes down to the bottom of the trouble and makes a complete and lasting cure by PURIFYING the blood. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, the head is cleared, breathing becomes natural and easy, the throat is no longer clogged, and every unpleasant symptom of the disease disappears. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and for this reason is the most certain cure for Catarrh. Book on Catarrh and medical advice free to all who write.
